ABOUT THE PROJECT:

US Coinboards is a client in a competitive marketplace of selling games to VFW's and other social groups who came to us looking for a custom carton that would stand apart from competition and increase customer interest in their games. In response we created a unique structure featuring PVC windows that allows players to see participation and thus judge their odds. Then we chose to digitally print the piece, so that the artwork could be freely and cost effectively changed to match the various games. Ultimately, the ticket box was professional looking and attention grabbing as demonstrated by increase in ticket sales that the box generated.
